

DUKE UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT

One Hundred Sixty-Fourth Commencement

Sunday, the Fifteenth of May, Two Thousand and Sixteen

Notes on Academic Dress

Academic dress had its origin in the Middle Ages. When the European universities were taking form in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, scholars were also clerics, and they adopted robes similar to those of their monastic orders. Caps were a necessity in drafty buildings, and capes or capes with hoods attached were needed for warmth. As the control of universities gradually passed from the church, academic costume began to take on brighter hues and to employ varied patterns in cut and color of gown and type of headdress.

The use of academic costume in the United States has been continuous since Colonial times, but a clear protocol did not emerge until an intercollegiate commission in 1893 recommended a uniform code. In this country, the design of a gown varies with the degree held. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple with long pointed sleeves as its distinguishing mark. The gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve with the rear part cut square and the front part with a cutaway arc. The most elaborate academic costume is the doctoral gown with velvet panels down the front and three bars of the same material across the sleeves. The velvet is usually black, but it may be a color designating the field of study to which the degree pertains. The gown itself, usually black like those of the lower degrees, may be of a color distinctive of a particular university.

The hood bears a still larger symbolic burden: the width of its velvet trimming designates the level of the degree; the color heralds the major field of study; and the lining identifies the institution that granted the degree. Duke University is symbolized by a lining of Duke blue with a white chevron.

The cap, originally round, is usually a square mortarboard and is the same for all degrees. The standard tassel for the cap is black, but the cap worn with the doctoral robe may have a gold tassel. The Duke doctoral gown is in the authentic Duke blue. The Duke University shield, embroidered in blue on white, is applied to each front panel. With this gown there may be worn a black velvet, four-pointed, soft tam with a square top and a gold metallic bullion tassel.

Mace and Chain of Office

Again at commencement, ceremonial use is made of two important insignia given to Duke University in memory of Benjamin N. Duke. Both the mace and chain of office are the gifts of anonymous donors and of the Mary Duke Biddle Foundation. They were designed and executed by Professor Kurt J. Matzdorf of New Paltz, New York, and were dedicated and first used at the inaugural ceremonies of President Sanford in 1970.

The Mace, the symbol of authority of the University, is made of sterling silver throughout. It is thirty-seven inches long and weighs about eight pounds. At the lower end of the hammered shaft is a gilt (gold-plated) pine cone. The upper end of the shaft displays the inscription Universitas Dukiana 1838. This inscription is surmounted by a short, hammered neck followed by the head which has eight flutings alternating with eight gilt ribs. Above the head of the mace, a band carries the motto of Duke University: Eruditio et Religio. The upper end of the mace is a crown of gilt laurel leaves which carries the seal of Duke University surrounded by the three symbols of the Trinity to indicate that Duke University emerged from Trinity College.

The Chain of Office of the President of Duke University is pictured on the front cover. It is four feet long and is also made of sterling silver throughout. The main part consists of nine silver pine cones alternating with ten gilt clusters of three laurel leaves each. In the front hangs the gilt medallion with the official seal of Duke University surrounded by a laurel wreath into which are set the three symbols of the Trinity. In the back is the gilt coat of arms of the Duke family with the motto In Adversis Idem set in a sterling wreath of laurel leaves and bearing the inscription Duke.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Michael W. Krzyzewski

MEN'S BASKETBALL HEAD COACH

Coach Mike Krzyzewski, known universally as "Coach K," has been the head coach of the men's basketball team at Duke since 1980. His 1,043 career wins and his 90 NCAA Tournament victories are the most in NCAA history. He has coached his Duke teams to extraordinary heights of achievement, including 13 ACC Tournament Championships, 32 NCAA Tournament bids, 12 Final Four appearances (tied for the most in NCAA history), and five National Championships (in 1991, 1992, 2001, 2010, and 2015). He emphasizes academic excellence for his players as well: his Blue Devils have had 67 All-ACC Academic Team selections, including five members of the national championship team in 2015.

Coach Krzyzewski was named the head coach of the U.S. men's national basketball team in 2005. Since then, Team USA has built a record of 75-1, winning five gold medals in international competition, including at the 2008 Beijing Olympics and the 2012 London Olympics.

A graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, Coach Krzyzewski attained the rank of captain in the U.S. Army. Prior to joining the Duke program, he was the head coach for five years at his alma mater, West Point.

Committed to serving his community, Coach Krzyzewski serves on the board of the Jimmy V Foundation for Cancer Research and is an honorary chairman of the Duke Children's Hospital. He established the Emily Krzyzewski Center, a community center in Durham for economically disadvantaged students; it is named for his mother.

In all, Coach Krzyzewski has been named the National Coach of the Year 12 times in eight different seasons. In 2001, he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame and was named "America's Best Coach" by TIME magazine and CNN.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

William Foege

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Faculty Sponsor: Michael H. Merson

William H. Foege is regarded by many today as the most distinguished global health leader of our time. While working as an epidemiologist in Eastern Nigeria during the 1970s, he devised the strategy to combat smallpox. His approach—a combination of focused surveillance and “ring vaccination” of people who had been exposed to the disease—led to the WHO declaring smallpox eradicated in 1980. It is the first and only disease to have been eliminated as a global threat.

Today, Dr. Foege is Emeritus Presidential Distinguished Professor of International Health at Emory University and is the first senior medical adviser to the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

Dr. Foege became chief of the Smallpox Eradication Program of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and was appointed director of the CDC in 1977. In 1984, he and several colleagues formed the Task Force for Child Survival, a working group for the World Health Organization, UNICEF, The World Bank, the United Nations Development Program, and the Rockefeller Foundation. Dr. Foege served as executive director of The Carter Center from 1986 to 1992.

Dr. Foege received his bachelor's degree from Pacific Lutheran University in 1957, his medical degree from the University of Washington in 1961, and his master's degree in public health from Harvard University in 1965. He has received many awards, including the Public Welfare Medal from the National Academy of Sciences in 2005, the Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter Award for Humanitarian Contributions to the Health of Humankind in 2007, the CDC Foundation Hero Award in 2009, and the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 2012.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Risa J. Lavizzo-Mourey

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Faculty Sponsor: Kimberly S. Johnson

Risa Lavizzo-Mourey is president and CEO of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, a position she has held since 2003.

She is the first woman and the first African American in that role. With assets of $10 billion, the Foundation is the fourth largest foundation in the United States. For more than four decades, it has worked to address key issues in public health such as establishing the 911 EMS system, reducing tobacco use, and improving end-of-life care. The Foundation administered $450 million in grants in 2015, focused on fighting childhood obesity, creating healthier communities, supporting nurses, and promoting health equity.

Prior to joining the Foundation, Dr. Lavizzo-Mourey was the Sylvan Eisman Professor of Medicine and Health Care Systems at the University of Pennsylvania as well as director of its Institute on Aging. She is master and former regent of the American College of Physicians, where she chaired its committees on ethics and human rights.

Dr. Lavizzo-Mourey did her undergraduate work at the University of Washington and the State University of New York at Stony Brook and earned her medical degree from Harvard Medical School. She completed her residency in internal medicine at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston and was a Robert Wood Johnson Clinical Scholar at the University of Pennsylvania. She trained in geriatrics at Penn, then earned an MBA from the Wharton School.

Dr. Lavizzo-Mourey was elected to the National Academy of Medicine and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. She currently serves on the Smithsonian Institution Board of Regents and the President's Council for Fitness, Sports and Nutrition. She has been honored by many organizations, including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and the American College of Physicians.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Charles Peete Rose, Jr.

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Faculty Sponsor: Joel L. Fleishman

Charlie Rose is anchor and executive editor of “Charlie Rose,” the nightly one-hour TV interview program that engages major public figures in in-depth conversations, and the newly launched “Charlie Rose: The Week,” offering his best interviews of the past seven days. Rose also co-anchors “CBS This Morning” and is a correspondent for “60 Minutes.”

Charlie Rose was born in Henderson, North Carolina. As a child, he lived above his parents’ store in Henderson, and he helped out with the family business from age seven. As an undergraduate at Duke, he developed an interest in politics. He earned two degrees from Duke: an A.B. in history in 1964 and a J.D. from the Law School in 1968.

Rose began his career in journalism in 1974 on the PBS series “Bill Moyers’ International Report”—first as editor, then executive producer, and then correspondent. Since 1991, he has had his own interview show, “Charlie Rose,” on PBS, and has interviewed many of the significant women and men of our time. He has interviewed 33 Nobel Laureates, including Nelson Mandela, the author Toni Morrison, the Irish poet Seamus Heaney, and President Barack Obama.

Rose won an Emmy Award and Peabody Prize for his 2013 interview with Syria’s President Bashar al-Assad. Other honors include France’s Legion d’honneur and being named among the world’s 100 most influential people by TIME magazine. Rose received the 2015 Walter Cronkite Award for Excellence in Journalism and the 2014 Vincent Scully Prize.

In an interview, Rose described his life: “I get up every morning with a new adventure. The adventure is fueled by interesting people.”

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Natasha Trethewey

Faculty Sponsor: Thomas S. Rankin

Natasha Trethewey served two terms as United States Poet Laureate from 2012 to 2014. She is currently the Robert W. Woodruff

Professor of English and Creative Writing at Emory University, where she is the director of the Creative Writing Program.

Trethewey was born in 1966 in Gulfport, Mississippi; her parents' interracial marriage was illegal at the time of her birth. Trethewey's poetry explores the historical and personal significance of America's racial legacy. She won the Pulitzer Prize for poetry in 2007 for her collection Native Guard, which tells the story of the Louisiana Native Guards, an all-black regiment in the Union Army. Her memoir Beyond Katrina: A Meditation on the Mississippi Gulf Coast (2010), describes the impact of Hurricane Katrina on her home state of Mississippi and on her own family. In an interview, Trethewey reflected, "A poem is a living monument—it lives and breathes every time it's spoken, read, heard."

Trethewey earned a B.A. in English from the University of Georgia, an M.A. in English and Creative Writing from Hollins University, and an M.F.A. in poetry from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. Trethewey's other collections of poetry include Domestic Work (2000), Bellocq's Ophelia (2002), and Thrall (2012). Among her many awards, she has received fellowships from the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation, as well as a Literature Fellowship in 1999 from the National Endowment for the Arts. She is also a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

In the 2005-06 academic year, she served as the Lehman Brady Professor of Documentary and American Studies, a joint appointment at Duke's Center for Documentary Studies and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

S.R. Srinivasa Varadhan

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Faculty Sponsor: David B. Dunson

Srinivasa Varadhan has been part of the Courant Institute at New York University since 1963, when he arrived from India as a postdoctoral fellow. He is currently professor of mathematics and Frank J. Gould Professor of Science. In 2007, Varadhan received the Abel Prize in Mathematics from the Norwegian Academy of Science and Letters "for his fundamental contributions to probability theory and in particular for creating a unified theory of large derivations." In 2010, President Obama awarded him the National Medal of Science. Varadhan is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Varadhan received his bachelor's (1959) and his master's (1960) degrees in statistics from Presidency College at the University of Madras and his Ph.D. in 1963 in mathematics from the Indian Statistical Institute. He describes working on a problem that hinges on one elusive question: "You struggle and struggle with it, sometimes for months, sometimes for years and sometimes for a lifetime! And eventually, suddenly one day you see how to fix that small piece. And then the whole structure is complete. ... Then that is a real revelation, and you enjoy a satisfaction that you cannot describe."

Professor Varadhan and his wife Vasundra are the parents of two sons. Their older son, Gopal, died in the attacks on September 11, 2001, while working in the Twin Towers. Their younger son, Ashok, a 1994 graduate of Duke, serves on the board of directors of DUMAC, which manages Duke University's endowment and other investment assets.

The Traditions of Commencement

Duke University traces its origin to 1838 when Brown's Schoolhouse, a one-room log subscription school, expanded to Union Institute upon the uniting of Methodist and Quaker families. Commencement exercises date from 1852 when action of the North Carolina General Assembly authorized the institution to grant degrees. Throughout the years commencement exercises have varied in scope, sometimes offering as much as a week of celebration to the graduates, their families and citizens of rural Randolph County, North Carolina, the site of the predecessor institutions to Duke University. Notable ceremonies in the nineteenth century included those of 1859 when President Braxton Craven presented diplomas reflecting a name change to Trinity College, of 1877 when the first earned M.A. degrees were awarded, and of 1878 when three sisters, Mary, Persis, and Theresa Giles earned degrees, becoming the first women graduates of the College.

The leadership of President John F. Crowell, the donation of land by Julian S. Carr, and the financial assistance of Washington Duke made possible the relocation of Trinity College to Durham in 1892. Within a decade, Trinity College established a reputation for excellence. Commencement ceremonies became more formal under the direction of a college marshal. Caps and gowns appeared, and after 1902, students received Latin honors in recognition of academic achievement. With appropriate ceremony, the college paid homage to Washington Duke, who had died in 1905, with the unveiling of his statue at the commencement of 1908.

From 1910 to 1924, President William Preston Few presided over the development of a particularly strong liberal arts college, and from 1924 until his death in 1940, he directed the successful transition to a complex research university. In December 1924, long-range planning and a lifetime of family philanthropy culminated in the public announcement of a grand design to aid higher education, hospitals, orphanages, and the Methodist Church in North and South Carolina. Acknowledging the unique opportunity for a new identity presented by acceptance of the terms of the indenture of The Duke Endowment, the Board of Trustees of Trinity College enthusiastically agreed to organize a new institution around Trinity College. The enlarged institution was to be known as Duke University in honor of Washington Duke, benefactor and father of Mary, James Buchanan, and Benjamin Newton, all friends of the college in their own way.

Based upon the solid foundation of Trinity College, the University grew spectacularly. The curriculum expanded and succeeding commencement programs noted new degrees: B.D. and M.Ed. in 1927, Ph.D. in 1928, and LL.B. in 1929. M.D. joined the list in 1932, and B.S. in Engineering in 1933, B.S. in Nursing in 1936, and Master of Forestry in 1939. In 1972 the degree of Master of Business Administration, the last curriculum recommended by James B. Duke, joined the list of degrees awarded by Duke University.

The location of the commencement exercises themselves reflects the changing nature of the university. First held in Craven Memorial Auditorium on East Campus, they were moved to West Campus in 1931 and held successively in Page Auditorium and in the outdoor and indoor stadiums. Special ceremonies at commencement have included the laying of the cornerstone of the Gothic campus in 1928, the first use of the Chapel and the inaugural carillon and organ recitals in 1932, and the unveiling of the statue of James B. Duke in 1935. The exigencies of World War II required the awarding of degrees during the year in special ceremonies in a variety of locations.

President Terry Sanford pursued new ways to continue a single university-wide convocation of undergraduate, graduate and professional school students which would still maintain traditional exercises. In a unique format, baccalaureate services are offered three times, and the commencement exercises have now returned to an outdoor setting, first to Wallace Wade Stadium in 1974, to the East Campus quadrangle in 1980, and in 1984 back to the stadium.

The Duke University Wind Symphony

The Duke University Wind Symphony, Verena Mösenbichler-Bryant, Director and Conductor, is an ensemble of sixty undergraduate and graduate students from across the United States and around the world, and is open to all Duke students by audition. The ensemble has commissioned over twenty works, many of them entering the standard repertoire of wind bands throughout the world. The "Commencement Edition" of this weekend's Wind Symphony is augmented by alumni and friends, including representatives from the 1950s to the present.

Duke University would like to recognize Dr. Paul Cherry, a Duke graduate from 1956, who is performing his 60th commencement with the Duke Wind Symphony this year. Thank you, Dr. Cherry, for your continued musicianship, passion and dedication.

The announcer for today's commencement ceremony is our own "Voice of Duke" Bob Harris.

Notes About the Program

Duke's stone carvings have provided a source of conjecture, amusement and even inspiration to the students, staff and visitors who have passed through this Gothic Wonderland. Photos of these carvings are featured throughout this program.

The lists of candidates appearing in this program are not officially certified lists of graduates. Certification must come from the Registrar of the University.
