Closing Processional	The audience remains standing until the platform party and the faculty leave Abele Quad.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Ken Jeong

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Faculty Sponsor: Esther Kim Lee, Professor of Theater Studies and Director of Asian American and Diaspora Studies

Actor, comedian, and advocate Ken Jeong will deliver the commencement address. Jeong received a bachelor's degree from Duke in 1990, went to medical school at the University of North Carolina, and worked as a physician of internal medicine for years. He also began acting at Duke, and he went on to perform in theater and improv while in medical school and continued with standup comedy in Los Angeles, where he was a practicing physician.

A small role on "The Office" launched his acting career. Since then, Jeong has gone on to create memorable characters in close to 50 films and TV shows, including Dr. Kuni in "Knocked Up," the gangster Leslie Chow in "The Hangover" film series, the Spanish teacher Señor Chang on "Community," and the father Wye Mun Goh in "Crazy Rich Asians." His recent television credits include ABC's "Dr. Ken," which he wrote, produced, and starred in; his Netflix comedy special "Ken Jeong: You Complete Me, Ho;" "The Masked Singer," where he serves as a judge and panelist, and "I Can See Your Voice," where he is the host and executive producer.

Jeong has been recognized for his support of cancer research and treatment, including hosting the annual Stand Up 2 Cancer telethon, which has raised hundreds of millions of dollars for cancer research. In this endeavor, he is inspired by his wife Tran Ho, a physician who is a cancer survivor after being diagnosed with Stage 3 breast cancer thirteen years ago. He is also a committed advocate for Asians and Asian-Americans in the performing arts, and he has been a leading voice in condemning violence against these communities. Over the course of the COVID pandemic, he has also led efforts in Hollywood to support public health measures and vaccinations.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Mary Schmidt Campbell

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Faculty Sponsor: James B. Duke Distinguished Professor of Political Science, Dean of the Graduate School, and Vice Provost for Graduate Education

In March of 2015, Mary Schmidt Campbell, Ph.D., was named Spelman's 10th president. She began her professional career in New York, as the director of the Studio Museum in Harlem at a time when the city of New York was on the verge of bankruptcy. Under her leadership, the museum became the country's first accredited Black fine arts museum and a linchpin in the redevelopment of Harlem. She then served as commissioner of cultural affairs for New York City under two mayors, and from there entered the world of academia as dean of New York University's renowned Tisch School of the Arts, where she served for over two decades. In 2009, President Barack Obama appointed her vice chair of the President's Committee on the Arts and Humanities. Currently, a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, she serves as a trustee of the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, the J. Paul Getty Trust, and the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation, and as a director of Unity Technologies.

Viewing Spelman as a "necessity," to "reach an ideal of equality," Dr. Campbell launched Imagine. Invent. Ascend, a bold new strategic vision for the College that builds on the College's legendary legacy to educate Black women for the 21st century. Her focus has been on ensuring that every Spelman student graduates with a competitive edge, expanding Spelman's strategic partnerships, deepening its excellence in STEM, wedding that strength to art, innovation and technology, and expanding signature academic programs that leverage Spelman's scholarly and creative excellence. To support this vision, under Dr. Campbell's leadership, the College has raised in four years, over 102% of its $250 million dollar capital campaign goal, the largest comprehensive campaign in the history of Spelman.

Dr. Campbell has a B.A. in English literature from Swarthmore College, a master's in art history and a Ph.D. in humanities from Syracuse University. She is the author of the award-winning book, "An American Odyssey: the Life and Work of Romare Bearden," (Oxford, 2018) and frequently speaks on issues of higher education and African American art and culture. She is the mother of three sons, seven grandchildren and lives in Atlanta with her husband of 53 years, George Campbell, Jr., Ph.D., president emeritus of The Cooper Union for the Advancement of Art and Science.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Katalin Karikó

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Faculty Sponsor: Sue Jinks-Robertson, James B. Duke Distinguished Professor of Molecular Genetics and Microbiology

Katalin Karikó is senior vice president at BioNTech and an adjunct professor at the Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. In collaboration with Dr. Weissman, she discovered the ability of modified-nucleosides in RNA to suppress activation of innate immune sensors and increase the translation of mRNA containing certain modified nucleosides. Their collaborative work led to the first two approved COVID-19 vaccines by Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna.

Katalin Karikó leads the mRNA-based protein replacement program for BioNTech SE. She has more than 40 years of experience working with RNA. Prior to joining BioNTech RNA Pharmaceuticals, Dr. Karikó was on the faculty at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School for 24 years. There she investigated RNA-mediated immune activation and in a groundbreaking research she discovered that nucleoside modifications suppress immunogenicity of RNA.

In 2006, she co-founded and served as CEO of RNARx. With the support of NIH, her team demonstrated in animals, including macaques the feasibility of using nucleoside-modified mRNA for protein replacement, thus opening a new field of therapy. She published more than 80 peer-reviewed papers and reviews many of them focusing on mRNA technologies.

Dr. Karikó received her Ph.D. in biochemistry from the University of Szeged in Hungary in 1982. She has 14 mRNA-related issued patents. For her scientific contributions and achievements, she has received the Rosenstiel Award, Széchenyi Prize, Semmelweis Award, Wilhelm Exner Medal, Reichstein Medal, Princess of Asturias Award, Horwitz Prize, Breakthrough Prize and the Vilcek Prize.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Drew Weissman

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Faculty Sponsor: Kevin Saunders, Associate Professor in Surgery and Member of the Duke Human Vaccine Institute

Dr. Drew Weissman is the Roberts Family Professor of Vaccine Research at the Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. In collaboration with Dr. Karikó, he discovered the ability of modified-nucleosides in RNA to suppress activation of innate immune sensors and increase the translation of mRNA containing certain modified nucleosides. Their collaborative work led to the first two approved COVID-19 vaccines by Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna.

At the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Weissman's laboratory focuses on the study of RNA and innate immune system biology and the application of these findings to vaccine research and gene therapy. The projects in his laboratory are divided into vaccines and therapeutics. Many vaccines are being developed, including HIV, HCV, malaria, MTB, influenza, SARS-CoV-2 variants, pancoronavirus, universal influenza, norovirus, C. diff, cancer vaccines, autoimmune vaccines, and allergy vaccines.

For therapeutics, these include protein delivery or replacement, such as monoclonal antibodies for therapy of passive immunity, deficient proteins for liver genetic diseases, and therapeutic protein delivery. The newest studies have identified how to target mRNA-LNPs to particular cell types and organs, including lung, heart, brain, T cells, bone marrow stem cells, and CD4+ cells. This is being used to develop an in vivo gene therapy for sickle cell anemia with other gene therapies.

Dr. Weissman received his M.D. and Ph.D. from Boston University School of Medicine. Weissman is the recipient of the Rosenstiel Award, the Princess of Asturias Award, the Louisa Gross Horwitz Prize, the Albany Medical Center Prize, and other honors.

UNIVERSITY MEDAL RECIPIENT

MaryAnn Eaddy Black

Awarded Posthumously

A lifelong community advocate and public servant, MaryAnn Black served as a North Carolina General Assembly Member, Durham County Commissioner, and Associate Vice President for Community Relationships for the Duke University Health System.

Driven by her passion for children and family advocacy, Black served as a Durham County Commissioner from 1990 to 2002 and acted as the chair of the board from 1996 to 2002. She was later appointed by Governor Cooper to the North Carolina House of Representatives in 2017 to represent District 29 in Durham County. During her tenure, Black sat on multiple committees including, Appropriations for Health and Human Services, Education — Community Colleges, Homelessness, and more.

In 2002, she joined the Duke University Health System and was an advocate for health and human services programs. Black led several initiatives to strengthen the health system's relationship with local government, community leaders, and faith communities to support the needs of all Durham citizens.

Prior to her roles in government and the Duke University Health System, Black was in private practice for more than thirty years providing psychotherapy services to children and families. In 1994, the State of North Carolina and the National Association of Social Workers awarded Black the "Social Worker of the Year" award.

Black served on the North Carolina Health and Wellness Trust Fund Commission Board and the Durham Technical Community College's Board of Trustees. She was also the president of the Durham Downtown Rotary and chair of the Greater Durham Chamber of Commerce Board, the first woman to hold the position.

Black earned a Bachelor of Science degree in English from Benedict College in Columbia, South Carolina, followed by a Master of Social Work at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. She passed away in 2020.

UNIVERSITY MEDAL RECIPIENT

Peter M. Nicholas

Pete Nicholas is Co-founder and Chairman Emeritus of Boston Scientific Corporation. He served as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer from the company's founding in 1979 until 1999, when he turned over CEO responsibilities. Mr. Nicholas formally gave up his Chairman role and retired from the BSC Board in 2016. Under Nicholas' vision and leadership, Boston Scientific grew from a start-up company to a global corporation with approximately 32,000 employees and revenue of $9.823 billion in 2018. Today, Boston Scientific is one of the world's largest medical device companies dedicated to less-invasive therapies.

Before co-founding Boston Scientific, Nicholas served as general manager of the Medical Products Division of Millipore Corporation. From 1968 to 1978, he held a variety of positions both domestically and internationally at Eli Lilly in sales, marketing, and general management. Since his retirement from BSC, Pete founded a family-owned partnership, Ithaca Partners, along with his three children. Ithaca Partners is a venture/private equity firm that invests in early and mid-stage companies with innovative breakthrough technologies primarily in the fields of energy, healthcare, environmental and opportunistic internet-based technologies.

Nicholas is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and former vice chair of its Academy Trust, and he is a member of the American Academy of Achievement. He is a recipient of the Phoenix Lifetime Achievement Award, signifying distinguished leadership and accomplishment in the medical device industry as well as the prestigious AdvaMed Industry Award in 2016 signifying his pioneering role in the development and commercialization of Interventional Medicine. He is also a recipient of the Ellis Island Medal of Honor. Nicholas has served on various for-profit and not-for-profit boards and was formerly Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Duke University. He is the founder of the Nicholas School of the Environment and the Nicholas Institute of Environmental Policy and Solutions at Duke University. He was also former Chairman of the Massachusetts High Technology Council.

Nicholas served as an officer in the U.S. Navy for two years resigning his commission in 1966. He holds a BA from Duke University, 1964 and an MBA from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania, 1968. Pete and his wife, Ginny, have three children and seven grandchildren and live on Cape Cod and the west coast of Florida.

UNIVERSITY MEDAL RECIPIENT

G. Richard Wagoner, Jr.

Rick Wagoner retired from General Motors Corporation in August 2009 after a 32-year career.

He served as GM chairman and chief executive officer from May 2003 through March 2009 and had been president and chief executive officer since June 2000. Other positions he held at GM include: president and chief operating office; executive vice president of GM and president of North American Operations; executive vice president, chief financial officer and head of worldwide purchasing; and president and managing director of General Motors do Brasil.

Since his retirement from GM, Wagoner has been active as a board member of a number of public companies including Invesco, where he is currently board Chair, and of early stage/startup companies, including Rivian and ChargePoint. He is an advisor to many early stage companies in the auto-tech space, and also has served on a number of not-for-profit boards, including the Virginia Commonwealth University Board of Visitors.

Wagoner served on the Duke Board of Trustees from 2001–2013, and as chair from 2011–2013. He continues to serve Duke as a member of the Duke University Health System Board of Directors and as chair of the Duke Kunshan University Advisory Board. He has also been a member of the Board of Dean's Advisors of the Harvard Business School, Duke's Fuqua School of Business Advisory Board and the Detroit Country Day School Board. He is a member of The Business Council and the Mayor of Shanghai's International Business Leaders Advisory Council.

At Duke, Wagoner was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and graduated summa cum laude in 1975 with a bachelor's degree in economics and management science. He received a master's degree in business administration from the Harvard Business School in 1977.

STUDENT SPEAKER

Sabrina Maciariello

CLASS OF 2020 SPEAKER

Sabrina Maciariello is a member of the class of 2020, having graduated from the Trinity College of Arts and Sciences with a Bachelor of Arts in psychology. Sabrina has always been fascinated, motivated, and excited by the intersections between empathy, wellness, and healing. At Duke, she interned for DUWell to educate the student body about primary prevention for burn-out and emotional well-being, and assisted in the teaching of Psychology 101 through the Costanzo Teaching Fellowship.

Sabrina's experiences acting in student-led monologue performances such as All of the Above and Me Too Monologues instilled a deeply-rooted sense of appreciation for narrative-based storytelling and its transformative powers to catalyze collective healing and connection. She served as the Executive Theatrical Co-Director of Me Too Monologues' annual showcase in early 2020.

Sabrina is presently employed full-time at the Veteran's Administration as a psychology technician, where she works on a national telephone-based project called Coaching Into Care, helping and supporting veterans and their loved ones in their pursuits of mental health care. Over the past year, she has worked with an organization called Kaleidoscope to develop, write, and pilot a novel and innovative high-school level curriculum on "Connection and Relationships" that emphasizes the transfer of powerful information into direct student action.

THE TRADITIONS OF COMMENCEMENT

Notes on Academic Dress

Academic dress had its origin in the Middle Ages. When the European universities were taking form in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, scholars were also clerics, and they adopted robes similar to those of their monastic orders. Caps were a necessity in drafty buildings, and copes or capes with hoods attached were needed for warmth. As the control of universities gradually passed from the church, academic costume began to take on brighter hues and to employ varied patterns in cut and color of gown and type of headdress.

The use of academic costume in the United States has been continuous since Colonial times, but a clear protocol did not emerge until an intercollegiate commission in 1893 recommended a uniform code. In this country, the design of a gown varies with the degree held. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple with long pointed sleeves as its distinguishing mark. The gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve with the rear part cut square and the front part with a cutaway arc. The most elaborate academic costume is the doctoral gown with velvet panels down the front and three bars of the same material across the sleeves. The velvet is usually black, but it may be a color designating the field of study to which the degree pertains. The gown itself, usually black like those of the lower degrees, may be of a color distinctive of a particular university.

The hood bears a still larger symbolic burden: the width of its velvet trimming designates the level of the degree; the color heralds the major field of study; and the lining identifies the institution that granted the degree. Duke University is symbolized by a lining of Duke blue with a white chevron.

The cap, originally round, is usually a square mortarboard and is the same for all degrees. The standard tassel for the cap is black, but the cap worn with the doctoral robe may have a gold tassel. The Duke doctoral gown is in the authentic Duke blue. The Duke University shield, embroidered in blue on white, is applied to each front panel. With this gown there may be worn a black velvet, four-pointed, soft tam with a square top and a gold metallic bullion tassel.

Mace and Chain of Office

At commencement, ceremonial use is made of two important insignia given to Duke University in memory of Benjamin N. Duke. Both the mace and chain of office are the gifts of anonymous donors and of the Mary Duke Biddle Foundation. They were designed and executed by Professor Kurt J. Matzdorf of New Paltz, New York, and were dedicated and first used at the inaugural ceremonies of President Sanford in 1970.

The Mace, the symbol of authority of the University, is made of sterling silver throughout. It is thirty-seven inches long and weighs about eight pounds. At the lower end of the hammered shaft is a gilt (gold-plated) pine cone. The upper end of the shaft displays the inscription Universitas Dukiana 1838. This inscription is surmounted by a short, hammered neck followed by the head which has eight flutings alternating with eight gilt ribs. Above the head of the mace, a band carries the motto of Duke University: Eruditio et Religio. The upper end of the mace is a crown of gilt laurel leaves which carries the seal of Duke University surrounded by the three symbols of the Trinity to indicate that Duke University emerged from Trinity College.

The Chain of Office of the President of Duke University is four feet long and is also made of sterling silver throughout. The main part consists of nine silver pine cones alternating with ten gilt clusters of three laurel leaves each. In the front hangs the gilt medallion with the official seal of Duke University surrounded by a laurel wreath into which are set the three symbols of the Trinity. In the back is the gilt coat of arms of the Duke family with the motto In Adversis Idem set in a sterling wreath of laurel leaves and bearing the inscription Duke.
