HONORARY DOCTOR OF ARTS

Deborah F. Rutter

PRESIDENT OF THE JOHN F. KENNEDY CENTER FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

Faculty Sponsor: R. Darren Gobert, Chair of Theater Studies and William and Sue Gross Distinguished Professor of Theater Studies and of English

President of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Deborah Rutter is one of the leading voices in arts administration today. As leader of the national cultural center since 2014, Rutter oversees programming across all genres, as well as a global network of education initiatives. In 2019 Rutter opened the REACH — the first expansion of the Center’s campus designed to bring audiences into the artistic process — setting the stage for a dynamic era of growth. She has expanded programming to fully represent the diversity of art in America, and introduced social impact and wellness programs across communities. Rutter sits on the board of Vital Voices, is a member of the board of directors of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and served as co-chair of its Commission on the Arts. In recognition of her advocacy for the role art plays in diplomacy she was one of the inaugural recipients of the European Union’s Transatlantic Bridge Award in 2022.

To strengthen the Kennedy Center’s mission, Rutter oversees its robust programming in theater, contemporary dance, ballet, vocal music, chamber music, hip-hop, comedy, international arts and jazz. A visionary leader in the arts, Rutter champions bold artistic expression partnered with fiscal sustainability, inclusivity and partnership with the community.

In her efforts to expand and deepen the Center’s engagement with the community, Rutter manages one of the most extensive arts education networks in the country, reaching millions of people across all 50 states with live performances and multidisciplinary arts training and support. Rutter also administers the VSA, an international organization providing art enrichment programs to people with disabilities.

Rutter is committed to reshaping the Kennedy Center to offer more artist-led programming and support for cross-disciplinary collaboration. In 2018, she launched DIRECT CURRENT—a festival of contemporary art spotlighting new and interdisciplinary art—and she established the Citizen Artist Fellowship to provide training and support to emerging artists who have distinguished themselves in community activism.

Beyond her work with the Kennedy Center, Rutter collaborated with Artistic Advisor at Large Renée Fleming to create a partnership with the National Institutes of Health to study treatments and health benefits associated with writing, performing, and listening to music. With her work on ‘Sound Health’, Deborah led an initiative that ended with the NIH dedicating a line of funding to research in this field, forging connections between neuroscientists, artists, and the public with life changing implications.

As a member and board member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Rutter served as co-chair of the multiyear Commission on the Arts delivering two reports through; “Art for Life’s Sake” and “Art is work”.

Prior to her role with the Kennedy Center, Rutter served as the President of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra Association and the Executive Director of the Seattle Symphony.

Rutter is a graduate of Stanford University and earned an M.B.A. from the University of Southern California. She is also a proud Duke parent; her daughter graduated in the Class of 2020.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Susan Solomon

THE LEE AND GERALDINE MARTIN PROFESSOR OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES AT THE MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY (MIT)

Faculty Sponsor: Drew Shindell, Nicholas Distinguished Professor of Earth Sciences

An internationally recognized leader in atmospheric science, Susan Solomon is the Lee and Geraldine Martin Professor of Environmental Studies and Chemistry at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). Her research focuses on climate change and ozone destruction.

In 1986 and 1987, Solomon led a team of scientists to the McMurdo Sound in the Antarctic to study the hole in the ozone. Her team's research demonstrated that the stratospheric chemistry of chlorofluorocarbons—synthetic substances once found in many products from aerosol sprays to refrigerants—was the primary cause of the ozone hole.

Solomon's research formed the basis of the United Nations Montreal Protocol—an international agreement ratified by 196 countries to mitigate damage to the ozone layer through the regulation of harmful chemicals. The Protocol has been remarkably successful, phasing out nearly 99% of all ozone-depleting substances.

Solomon was one of the leaders of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, the organization that won the 2007 Nobel Peace Prize together with former Vice President Al Gore. In 2008, she was named one of the year's 100 most influential people by TIME magazine, and Antarctica's Solomon Glacier and Solomon Saddle were named in her honor. She also received the 1999 National Medal of Science and the Grande Medaille, the highest award of the French Academy of Sciences, and the 2021 Future of Life Award. She is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the French Academy of Sciences, the Royal Society, the Pontifical Academy of Sciences, and the Academeia Europaea (European Academy).

Solomon is the author of several influential scientific papers in climate science, including publications on the irreversibility of the climate crisis and the impact of the ozone hole on the climate of the southern hemisphere. She also authored The Coldest March: Scott's Fatal Antarctic Expedition, a book on Captain Robert Falcon Scott's failed 1912 Antarctic expedition, and co-authored Aeronomy of the Middle Atmosphere: Chemistry and Physics of the Stratosphere and Mesosphere, which describes in-depth the middle atmosphere.

Prior to her role at MIT, Solomon was the head of the Chemistry and Climate Processes Group of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Chemical Sciences Division.

Solomon earned her B.S. from the Illinois Institute of Technology and her Ph.D. from the University of California at Berkeley, both in chemistry.

THE TRADITIONS OF COMMENCEMENT

Notes on Academic Dress

Academic dress originated in the Middle Ages. When the European universities were taking form in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, scholars were also clerics, and they adopted robes similar to those of their monastic orders. Caps were a necessity in drafty buildings, and copes or capes with hoods attached were needed for warmth. As the control of universities gradually passed from the church, academic costume began to take on brighter hues and to employ varied patterns in cut and color of gown and type of headdress.

The use of academic costume in the United States has been continuous since Colonial times, but a clear protocol did not emerge until an intercollegiate commission in 1893 recommended a uniform code. In this country, the design of a gown varies with the degree held. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple with long pointed sleeves as its distinguishing mark. The gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve with the rear part cut square and the front part with a cutaway arc. The most elaborate academic costume is the doctoral gown with velvet panels down the front and three bars of the same material across the sleeves. The velvet is usually black, but it may be a color designating the field of study to which the degree pertains. The gown itself, usually black like those of the lower degrees, may be of a color distinctive of a particular university.

The hood bears a still larger symbolic burden: the width of its velvet trimming designates the level of the degree; the color heralds the major field of study; and the lining identifies the institution that granted the degree. Duke University is symbolized by a lining of Duke blue with a white chevron.

The cap, originally round, is usually a square mortarboard and is the same for all degrees. The standard tassel for the cap is black, but the cap worn with the doctoral robe may have a gold tassel. The Duke doctoral gown is in the authentic Duke blue. The Duke University shield, embroidered in blue on white, is applied to each front panel. With this gown there may be worn a black velvet, four-pointed, soft tam with a square top and a gold metallic bullion tassel.

Mace and Chain of Office

At commencement, ceremonial use is made of two important insignia given to Duke University in memory of Benjamin N. Duke. Both the mace and chain of office are the gifts of anonymous donors and of the Mary Duke Biddle Foundation. They were designed and executed by Professor Kurt J. Matzdorf of New Paltz, New York, and were dedicated and first used at the inaugural ceremonies of President Terry Sanford in 1970.

The Mace, the symbol of authority of the University, is made of sterling silver throughout. It is thirty-seven inches long and weighs about eight pounds. At the lower end of the hammered shaft is a gilt (gold-plated) pine cone. The upper end of the shaft displays the inscription Universitas Dukiana 1838. This inscription is surmounted by a short, hammered neck followed by the head which has eight flutings alternating with eight gilt ribs. Above the head of the mace, a band carries the motto of Duke University: Eruditio et Religio. The upper end of the mace is a crown of gilt laurel leaves which carries the seal of Duke University surrounded by the three symbols of the Trinity to indicate that Duke University emerged from Trinity College.

The Chain of Office of the President of Duke University is four feet long and is also made of sterling silver throughout. The main part consists of nine silver pine cones alternating with ten gilt clusters of three laurel leaves each. In the front hangs the gilt medallion with the official seal of Duke University surrounded by a laurel wreath into which are set the three symbols of the Trinity. In the back is the gilt coat of arms of the Duke family with the motto In Adversis Idem set in a sterling wreath of laurel leaves and bearing the inscription Duke.
